DETAILED ACTION

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Downing et al'176. Downing discloses an elongated strip of material having a first end (24) suitably bent and arranged to engage a horizontal support member (figure 2), a second end bent (34) capable of engaging a tire, and the middle section (28, 32, 36) disposed between the first end and second end and of suitable length capable of holding a tire in an approximately vertical orientation.

Applicant's intended usage for a vehicle hoist or tire are not accorded with patentable weight. Downing's strip is capable of being supported on a horizontal member of a hoist and to support a tire.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lynch'585 in view of Downing'176 and Kapp'029. Lynch discloses a hanger for use with a vehicle hoist having a horizontal support member (3 and 18) comprising an elongated strip of material (6) having a first bend end (25) arranged to engage the horizontal member (18), a second bend end (23 and 24) arranged to engage a tire-shaped article (30), and a middle section (6) disposed between the first end and second end and of suitable length to hold the tire-shape article in an approximately vertical orientation. Lynch, however, does not show the first bend end as part of the single elongated strip of material and that the bend portion is for suspending tires. To make a hanger of a single strip is notoriously old and well-known in the art as demonstrated by Downing'176. It has the advantage of ease in manufacturing as in reducing the number of parts. Kapp teaches a tire support where the first bend end (6) for engaging the horizontal member is of one piece with the strip (5) locked by bolts (8). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the first bent end of Lynch such that it is of bend from the elongated strip as demonstrated by Kapp for the purpose of forming a single piece strip to facilitate ease in manufacturing as taught by Downing and also to have Lynch's second bent end to support a tire as taught by Kapp.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The various cited arts demonstrates pivotable hooks and some additional tire hangers.
